Why am I an AUXILIARIST

“ I ask you, what could be nobler than to serve in a volunteer organization that is as relevant to the whole country as the USCG Auxiliary? ”

I have written about this topic before, but this article is different. Why be in the USCG Auxiliary and not some other volunteer organization? The online publication, Benefits of Membership, might convince you there are many good reasons to belong but I joined the Auxiliary long before anyone thought it might be a good idea to work on getting commercial entities to offer financial benefits to Auxiliarists just for being a member. In addition to the training and education possibilities we have offered to us there are very tangible benefits such as rental car costs, hotel/motel price breaks and good deals at places like COSTCO, Office Depot, Amazon Smile, plus several others. But is that enough to convince someone to join? Or to remain a member? Perhaps. But if that is the only reason a person joins and stays, I suggest we are talking about someone who has no dedication to purpose that is of benefit specifically to a Flotilla nor to the Auxiliary in general.

The Auxiliary is made up with a membership group that includes several “Seasoned Veterans” which is a slippery way of saying “Old”. Many of us no longer work full time so we look for something to do to fill our time in a constructive way. In my case I wanted to remain relevant to some worthy cause so after about six months of retirement, and getting my fill of golf and fishing, etc., I discovered the USCG Auxiliary. Without question this is the most worthy cause I could have chosen to participate in.

We accept Mission assignments from the finest Coast Guard in the world because the continual “Mission Creep” the active duty encounters has them extended way beyond their manpower limit. 36 of the states in the USA have a larger annual budget than our own Coast Guard and this over extension of capability/capacity is what makes the Auxiliary a very relevant arm of the active duty. That is why I joined. For certain there are other worthwhile volunteer groups in this country that one can join. But I am hard pressed to find another volunteer group that gives me a feeling of personal relevance and at the same time, being a member of an organization that is beneficial to so many people.

This is the last article I will write for the Benefits of Membership publication as National Commodore since I will be replaced on November 1, 2020. I feel much honored to have been elected to the most senior position in this volunteer organization but now I look forward to devoting more time and attention to my Flotilla. That is how I intend to remain relevant in the Auxiliary, by being actively engaged in all mission assignments we are asked to accomplish. Relevance is one of my watch words and it is based on the Commandants ethos to maintain a “Ready, Relevant, and Responsive Coast Guard”. So, I ask you, what could be nobler than to serve in a volunteer organization that is as relevant to the whole country as the USCG Auxiliary?

Introducing the Concept of “Aux-azon”

Shipmates, last year, I was delighted to announce a new pricing policy at 2019 NACON to the National Board. From then on out, all AuxA items will be priced on a “cost-basis”, not on a “what-the-market-might-bear” basis. Of note, Districts can still buy at a 5% volume discount to support their in-District training and fellowship efforts.

Having said that, the largest beneficiaries of the price reductions are, first, the members and, more subtly, the flotillas. Since we’ve lowered the PE materials by 60% or $15/student, those savings “stick to the ribs” of the flotilla – where the most benefits of membership can be had.

Announcing “Aux-azon” and AuxA Fulfillment Services

First, what is “Aux-azon?” It is a new and heightened focus on making things easy to buy, that fill your needs and are as price-efficient as possible – just like Amazon does. And, to emphasize the effort, and recognizing the fresh start in Granite City IL, we’re rebranding “the warehouse” as AuxA Fulfillment Services. It will be headed up by Haider Aljuboory, AuxA Fulfillment Services Manager, reporting directly to Jim Losi, Chief Operating Officer of AuxA.

So, here are the “four corners” of that strategy:

In addition to (#1) lowering prices, we’ve (#2) simplified our offerings – no more competing with West Marine etc. We will ONLY offer 3 categories of items going forward:

- Unit Pride items (we’ve sold over 1,000 of the new Department of Homeland Security and Vessel Examiner sportswear shirts!)
- Uniform items, and
- program support materials for PE, VE and OPs.

And, as we draw down on anything that would otherwise be available “retail” from retail vendors, we will not replenish that inventory.

#3 – Targeted email offerings, in two flavors – first, we instituted what we (lovingly) call the “Stan-o-gram” – targeted emails from our Chief Materials Liaison Officer, Stan Feldman, direct to the DSO-MAs. The offerings are all about special merchandizing of generally older but still serviceable items – at cost. And, second, these are in addition to the generally bi-weekly “Blue and White Deal-o-Grams” that announce (or, re-announce) new “Benefits of Membership.” In the past few weeks, we’ve announced special deals from Military Java Coffee, Costco, Office-Depot and Budget RentACar, to mention just a few.

And, #4 and brand new, we’ve added an online catalog to the quarterly Benefits of Membership. It targets seasonally relevant merchandise and gives you “push button” control to service your needs.

We’re still far from done in bringing you a modern, service-orientated, value-based AuxA – but we know we are an integral part of providing you the “Benefits of Membership” – so the best is yet to come. Check us out at <https://auxcen.com>

Amazon Smile - AuxA

How the Auxiliary will continue to excel

This past August the Auxiliary elected a new National Bridge. In September we elected new District Leadership. Next there will be Division Commanders, Flotilla Commanders and others. Each of these new leaders, including me, holds the distinction of being the first in their position to be elected “virtually.” Something that was unheard of but something that proves we are able to adapt to the current situation and complete the mission. The Auxiliary will not bow to the challenge of the pandemic; it will adapt, overcome, and come through it stronger than ever.

As the incoming National Commodore I must decide how the Auxiliary will continue to excel in this time of unprecedented challenges. What can we do to get back to normal? If only I had a “Time Machine” it could be so easy, just turn the clock back and all will be back to the way it was. We all know that it is never that easy and last I checked I couldn’t find a “Time Machine.” I even looked on Amazon, no luck and that would have been a great purchase under the Amazon Smile program where a portion of the proceeds goes to the Auxiliary. So we are just going to continue doing what we always do, meet the challenges head on, overcome and complete the mission.

I like to see opportunities instead of obstacles. One door closes, two doors open. This pandemic has had a tremendous impact on the Auxiliary but it has also shown the Auxiliary’s value. The primary mission of the Auxiliary is Recreational Boating Safety. We have been essentially shut down for months and the effect of the shutdown has been dramatic. Recreational Boating accident rates have increased 28 percent from last year and fatality and injury rates have increased 32 percent and 16

If only I had a Time Machine it could be so easy, just turn the clock back and all will be back to the way it was.

percent, respectively. Is this all because there is no RBS effort by the Auxiliary? No, sales of recreational boats of all types have significantly increased let by 5 to 10 percent increases across new power boat sales and there was an unprecedented jump in PWC sales of more than 270 percent from June to July. The increase in boating no doubt impacted the number of mishaps but is not responsible for all of them. However, the increase activity on the water, especially by new boaters, is all the more reason why we need the Auxiliary out there teaching these new boaters the skills they need, inspecting the vessels and patrolling the waters.

National Commodore King has aggressively and persistently made this argument to Active Duty and the tide is turning. The Coast Guard is reviewing the situation and formulating a policy to allow us to meet in person. This is the first step on the way to getting us out there again. The challenges are great, the safety of our members and the public is paramount, but we are making progress. Till then we will press on, using our newly acquired skills of remote teaching and meetings, virtual elections and test taking to mention a few. It is not easy but it never was. The important thing is that we will take these new skills with us and when, not if, but when this is over we will be stronger, smarter, more efficient and effective than ever.

Commodore Alex Malewski, NACO

STAYING ENGAGED

I'm sure many of you, like me, joined the US Coast Guard Auxiliary to help others, to give back. After all, we are America's Volunteer Lifesavers and we take Job One, Recreational Boating Safety, seriously.

As each of our districts slowly begin to reopen and more of our activities are approved using common sense guidelines, many members still find themselves looking for opportunities to do more, to contribute more.

With a little creativity and inspiration, we can still help the boating public without putting our members at risk. With the assistance of the National Association of State Boating Law Administrators, many states have approved online presentation of our boating safety classes. Most districts have also established guidelines for conducting in-person, socially distant vessel exams and program visits.

There are also ways to contribute to help from your own home. I'm referring to special media. Each time you share or retweet a beneficial article about recreational boating safety from an approved source you are helping to get our message out. Social media reaches millions of people every day. It does not have to be just a form of entertainment; it may also be used to help to share helpful and important information.

Another way to help is to access amazon.com via the Coast Guard Auxiliary association (AuxA) Amazon Smile portal. Each time we do this, Amazon donates a small amount to AuxA, but these donations add up. As suggested via the Amazon Prime-Day "Blue-&-White" that AuxA sent out on 7 Oct 2020, I hope you used the AuxA Amazon Smile portal to access Amazon and help us run up the score.

It is with certainty that in time we will return to all our activities and continue to be the Coast Guard's force multiplier. Until then it is important that we maintain our Semper Gumby mentality and be ready for what the future holds.

Coast Guard Mutual Assistance

2020: IN AN HISTORIC YEAR, COAST GUARD MUTUAL ASSISTANCE STEPS UP FOR THE COAST GUARD FAMILY

By serving in the Coast Guard Auxiliary you are a member of the Coast Guard family and as a benefit for your service are eligible for the services available from CGMA.

By Lou DiGiusto, Chief Marketing Officer, AuxA

Visit to Red Cross call center following award by CGMA for help during the government shutdown.

“This year was quite a challenge for CGMA” said RADM Cari Thomas, USCG (Ret) in a recent interview with AuxA. “The pandemic presented CGMA with unprecedented needs from the Coast Guard family. I’m proud of our CGMA team. We were able to meet those needs and in fact CGMA delivered more COVID assistance to our Coast Guard families than all the other armed service relief societies combined.”

For the past 96 years, the Coast Guard Mutual Assistance organization has been assisting members of the Coast Guard family with emergency needs.

This year with the COVID pandemic the needs of Coast Guard families dramatically increased. CGMA has been providing special needs support, medical and dental assistance, family debt and financial management counseling, an infant layette program, adoption assistance, childcare needs, student assistance, housing assistance, and of course disaster assistance. COVID needs added to the list.

“The needs have shifted this year,” said RADM Thomas. “COVID, Hurricanes, wildfires, have surged. The need for family support, childcare and student support due to the COVID shut down have dramatically increased. For example, Coast Guard families working from home or with students going to school on-line, there’s a tremendous need for computers. If you stacked up all the computer laptops and tablets we delivered this year the stack would be taller than the Statue of Liberty!”

RADM Thomas saluted supporting organizations like a recent $8.4 million grant from USAA which enabled CGMA to meet increased demand from COVID.

On an average day, Coast Guard Mutual Assistance:

- Provides $12,230 of financial assistance to 14 clients
- Sends 2 “Welcome Baby” gifts to expecting Coast Guard families
- Issues 5 zero-interest loans to help with emergencies
- Equips at least one member with $2,600 of rental assistance
- Pays caregivers for 4.5 hours of respite care for special needs families
- Helps 36 students finish their homework through on-line tutoring sessions
- Puts 46 books into the hands of college students
- Funds $900 for emergency travel so members can be with their immediate family at crucial times

She said “COVID has impacted the Coast Guard family. Many of our family members lost their jobs in restaurants and small businesses that shut down. CGMA was called to meet needs we never addressed before. A unique example was providing financial assistance for Coast Guard families that could not bury their grandparents, family members in the New York City area due to the shutdown. They were not prepared for the funeral costs. Those families had to keep their deceased family members in mortuaries for extended time because they couldn’t have a funeral and burial.”

RADM Thomas emphasized that CGMA benefits are for the Auxiliary members as well as active duty, reserve and civilian corps members that need help. “Members of the Auxiliary are Coast Guard family.”

NIPCO Larry King, “I consider CGMA the most important support organization I have ever dealt with. They came to the rescue for many Auxiliaries, including me, after Hurricane Katrina, like others I lost my home. CGMA quickly came on scene and gave me a financial grant which was instrumental in my rapid recovery. No other organization treats Auxiliary as if we are active duty. None. That’s why I donate substantially to CGMA every year and will do so forever, CGMA cares.”

RADM Thomas said that “there are many Auxiliary flotillas that ‘pass the hat’ for us each year, many Auxiliary members help support our mission. I think the strength of the Coast Guard reflects the values we all follow; adaptability, flexibility, and above all relying on each other that wear the uniform.

A 10- minute Quiz
The Coast Guard Auxiliary Association
 "AuxA"

AuxA Moving On...And Getting Better Doing So

The Coast Guard Auxiliary Association - AuxA, as we refer to it, is a non-profit organization that provides the financial resources and stability for the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. AuxA's purpose is to ensure that the Coast Guard Auxiliary has the financial stability to fulfill its missions at all times, even when federal Coast Guard funding is interrupted. All AuxA funds go to the Coast Guard Auxiliary to support its missions.

The AuxA is also similar to a medium sized business even though it is a "non-profit." AuxA's CEO, Vin Pica, has a mantra the he stresses often. That is, the AuxA is a charity that we must run like a business. Most recently, Vin coined the phrase "Auxazon" during our weekly leadership conference call. You will hear more about "Auxazon" from him, but in the meantime a short definition of "Auxazon" is as follows:

"Auxazon" is a new and heightened focus on making things easy to buy, that fill your needs and are as price-efficient as possible – just like Amazon does.

As a consequence, the AuxA leadership team has been asked to constantly improve the service and offering the AuxA provides its members, you, all the time! The mandate of "constant improvement" applies to everything we do at the AuxA. I literally mean everything from the smallest procedure which will improve an operation, to the very large initiatives like moving our warehouse operation.

Moving our warehouse operations? How would that improve things at the AuxA?

We started asking each other questions regarding our warehouse operations and how we could dramatically improve everything from member order fulfillment, to reducing the overall cost of our operations to better leveraging our relationship with the USCG and its various operations. As a consequence, AuxA leadership team was with coming up with a plan that would create dramatic results and improvements quickly.

So on Monday, 28 September 2020, we started the process of moving our warehouse operations from St. Louis to our new AuxA Fulfillment Services operation to Granite City, Coast Guard Auxiliary Association Inc., 1301 W First St., Ste E-1, Granite City IL 62040-1802. This move provides some very strategic improvements to the AuxA and more importantly you!

The list of benefits of our recent move is plentiful. First off, we have rebranded our operation from a simple warehouse operation to the AuxA Fulfillment Services operations where we engage in a wide variety of activities in addition to member order fulfillment and shipping. That rebranding is very much in line with the CEO's directive to "Auxazon" the AuxA. So we "AuxA-azoned" our warehouse operations. The rebranding of the fulfillment operation allows us to better attract, retain and train new and existing employees working in the new fulfillment center. We have also co-relocated to where the ANSC USCG operation is whereby we can leverage and share joint resources. We are in the new space only two plus weeks and we are already seeing the benefits of sharing space with our USCG partners. Overall, we have been able to dramatically reduce the cost of operating the AuxA Fulfillment Services operation by tens of thousands of dollars which means more money for our national RBS programs along with new and interesting product offerings for you.

As we are settling into our new space in Granite City, we are already working on new and exciting product and service offerings.

Stand by to get even more excited about the AuxA and the services it brings you!

We'll Split It With You!

Wondering what to do with that boat?

Never a better time to donate a boat! COVID19 has raised prices and volume as people buy boats instead of flying to a vacation! If you are thinking of tax deductions and doing good with the old clunker, now's the time!

Shipmates, you've seen our "ads" for donating boats to AuxA, which we turn into a tax-deduction for the donor (gross proceeds) and plowing the net sales revenue – (gross proceeds less transportation, storage, brokerage, and/and/and) into donations to our RBS programs – PE, VE and PV.

Here's an idea for you, patterned after a recently, successfully concluded process with a flotilla in D1SR. They had a vessel that had given them dutiful service for a number of years – but now presented more of a "challenge" than the flotilla was willing to continue to underwrite. AuxA was approached and a discussion was had about how to divide up the spoils as it were, if the boat was donated to the AuxA "Boats for Life" Program. We agreed that, whatever the net proceeds were, 2/3rd would go to AuxA for RBS uses and 1/3rd would go to the flotilla to help replenish their bank account. And we did!

Now the flotilla isn't a taxpayer so no one got the tax benefits – but cash isn't so bad!

But people are taxpayers – so here's the idea. You have a boat that you're tired of underwriting the costs of? Donate it to AuxA's "Boats for Life" Program. You'll get 100% of the tax benefits of the gross proceeds; two, AuxA will get 2/3rd of the net proceeds for RBS uses and your flotilla (or division or district – we're open minded!) will get 1/3rd of the net proceeds. And I imagine you get meaningful recognition at the next COW and/or unit meeting!

Here's an example:

1. Boat gets sold for: $15,000 – you get a $15,000 tax deduction
2. Expenses amount to: $ 3,000
 - Commission: $1,500
 - Storage: $1,000
 - Transport: $500 Immediate from your marina to CSI
3. Net proceeds of: $12,000
 - AuxA/RBS gets: $8,000
 - Your flotilla gets: $4,000
4. You get a gold star in CGAux heaven! Email me at vincent.pica@cgauxnet.us
